

ironically, the reason why AT&T Wireless identified the present Site as an alternative. Indeed, the Town's "hostility" to wireless communications facilities was adjudicated by this Court in a matter involving proposed wireless communications facilities by other carriers on BECO tower No. 111, next to the tower where AT&T Wireless had been previously rebuffed. See Nextel Communications of the Mid-Atlantic, Inc. v. Town of Wayland, 231 F.Supp. 2d 396, 406-407 (D. Mass. 2002).

81. Nor was there any evidence to refute AT&T Wireless' proof that location on electric transmission towers no. 120-132 was not reasonably feasible from a permitting, construction, and community impact point of view. In lieu of evidence, the Board cited Sprint's request on April 26, 2004, for a continuance until September, 2004, for the stated purpose of studying the BECO towers. In the nearly four months since that April request (including the three full months between the request and the Decision), Sprint has submitted no information refuting AT&T Wireless' conclusion that the BECO towers are not reasonably feasible.

82. The Board "concluded that testimony as to the potential diminution of real estate values provided additional support for a determination that 137 Boston Post Road is not the optimal location for a WTF." Consistent with the Town's and the Board's past and present animus against towers in general, the Board based this finding upon generalized testimony applicable to all wireless communications towers, rather than specific evidence tailored to the particular proposal in question. Moreover, at least some of this testimony incorporated the presumed effect upon property values of opponents' fears regarding the health effect of radio frequency emissions, which even the Board admitted it could not lawfully consider directly, in light of 47 U.S.C. § 332(c)(7)(B)(iv).

83. Likewise, the Board stated that a fall zone equal to tower height was needed for public safety reasons, based upon "photographs" showing a different tower, not involving Eastern Towers or AT&T Wireless, in Oswego, New York. In so doing, the Board ignored the expert engineering evidence regarding tower design and safety features, ignored differences between the proposed tower and the Oswego tower, and conjured supposed dangers that would apply to any tower. The Board also intruded into an area governed by the state building code, beyond the jurisdiction of a local zoning authority. This reliance upon an empty record and unsubstantiated assumptions flowed from the Board's anti-wireless animus.

THE TELECOMMUNICATIONS ACT OF 1996

84. Congress has determined that there is a public need for wireless communications services such as that provided by AT&T Wireless and by Eastern Towers' other clients. The Telecommunications Act was intended to "provide for a pro-competitive, de-regulatory national policy framework designed to accelerate rapidly private sector deployment of advanced telecommunications and information technologies to all Americans".^{6/}

85. The Telecommunications Act, while preserving certain State and local authority over the placement, construction or modification of wireless facilities, expressly preempts State or local governments from regulating such facilities in a manner that prohibits or has the effect of prohibiting the provision of personal wireless services, or from unreasonably discriminating among providers of functionally equivalent wireless services. The Telecommunications Act also requires that the decisions of State or local governments concerning any requests for authorization to place, construct or modify wireless facilities must be supported by "substantial evidence".

IRREPARABLE HARM

86. By denying Eastern Towers and AT&T Wireless the right to construct the proposed flagpole-style facility and install and operate AT&T Wireless' essential telecommunications equipment at the Site, the Board has effectively prohibited AT&T Wireless from covering this portion of Wayland and has effectively prohibited Eastern from serving other FCC-licensed wireless communication providers in covering this portion of Wayland.

87. As a result, AT&T Wireless has suffered and continues to suffer irreparable harm by being denied, and delayed in obtaining, the opportunity to install and operate its facility and to provide essential, seamless, federally licensed wireless coverage in Wayland.

88. By denying AT&T Wireless the right to install and operate its facility on Eastern's proposed multiple-carrier tower for the essential telecommunications equipment of AT&T Wireless and other FCC-licensed carriers at the Site, the Board has effectively prohibited wireless communication services in this portion of Wayland.

89. As a result, AT&T Wireless and Eastern have suffered and continue to suffer irreparable harm by being denied and delayed the opportunity to install an appropriate facility to provide the essential services of several federally licensed carriers in Wayland.

COUNT I
(Telecommunications Act of 1996 - Effective Prohibition)

90. The Plaintiffs repeat and reallege the allegations of paragraphs 1-89, above.

91. The Telecommunications Act provides in relevant part that “The regulation of the placement, construction, and modification of personal wireless service facilities by any State or local government or instrumentality thereof – (II) shall not prohibit or have the effect of prohibiting the provision of personal wireless services.” 47 U.S.C. § 332(c)(7)(B)(i).

92. Because of the narrow WCSD in which wireless facilities are permitted, a use variance and other relief is necessary to cover the Coverage Gap.

93. On July 15, 2004, members of the Board acknowledged that the WCSD, as written, would effectively prohibit wireless service, given its location.

94. Given the Bylaw’s restrictive geographical prohibitions, and the Town’s treatment of wireless applications now and in the past, the Board’s denial of the Plaintiffs’ applications “prohibit[s] or ha[s] the effect of prohibiting the provision of personal wireless services,” in those areas of the Town that cannot receive wireless communication coverage if the proposed facility is not constructed, in violation of Section 332(c)(7)(B)(i)(II) of the Act.

95. The Bylaw on its face and as applied by the Board’s denial of the Plaintiffs’ application “prohibit[s] or ha[s] the effect of prohibiting the provision of personal wireless services,” in those areas of the Town that cannot receive wireless communication coverage if the proposed facility is not constructed, in violation of Section 332(c)(7)(B)(i)(II) of the Act.

96. Moreover, the Board’s decision evidences, implements and shares the Town’s longstanding anti-tower animus, dating from at least 1998 as alleged above. Given that animus, which has been applied to installations on electric transmission towers as well as new and well-disguised flagpole-style monopoles, further applications would be futile.

97. The Court should declare that the Board's Decision and the Bylaw as applied by the Board's Decision violate the prohibition of § 332(c)(7)(B)(i) on their face and as applied.

COUNT II
(Telecommunications Act of 1996 - No Substantial Evidence for Denial)

98. The Plaintiffs repeat and reallege the allegations of paragraphs 1- 97, above.

99. The Telecommunications Act provides that "Any decision by a State or local government or instrumentality thereof to deny a request to place, construct, or modify personal wireless service facilities shall be . . . supported by substantial evidence contained in a written record." 47 U.S.C. § 332(c)(7)(B)(iii).

100. The Board's denial of the Plaintiffs' application is not supported by substantial evidence, in violation of this requirement.

101. Without limitation there was no substantial evidence for the majority's finding that there is no coverage gap in light of unrefuted testimony regarding significant areas within that gap (including within the areas north and south of Route 20) and the Town's own finding that $\frac{1}{2}$ to 1- $\frac{1}{2}$ miles on Route 20 experience a gap. No substantial evidence supported the Board's findings regarding impact upon real estate values, which was based upon generalized testimony regarding presumed characteristics of wireless facilities generally (and even the fear regarding health effects of radio frequency emissions), rather than substantial evidence regarding this particular proposed tower at this Site. The Board rejected the Plaintiffs' expert testimony regarding the safety features of the proposed tower based upon lay testimony regarding irrelevant matters within the jurisdiction of the building code, rather upon than substantial evidence on matters within the scope of the zoning laws. The Board's findings regarding alternatives were not based upon substantial evidence refuting AT&T Wireless' analysis, but upon Sprint's request for a continuance. Moreover, the Board ignored unrebutted testimony of the Plaintiffs' experts on questions requiring expertise, and relied upon numerous lay people, including long-time opponents to all wireless facilities in the Town.

COUNT III
(Chapter 40A, Section 17)

102. The Plaintiff repeats and realleges the allegations of paragraphs 1-101, above.

103. The Board's denial of Plaintiffs' application was arbitrary and capricious, exceeds the Board's authority under Massachusetts General Laws Chapter 40A, and is based on errors of law.

COUNT IV
(Declaratory Judgment)

104. The Plaintiffs repeat and reallege the allegations of paragraphs 1-103, above.

105. There is an actual controversy between the parties whether the Bylaw may be construed as the Board has construed it, whether the proposed facility satisfies the standards for approval, whether the Bylaw's WCSD violates the TCA by being too restrictive to permit coverage of the area, whether the Board's application of the use variance criteria can be squared with the TCA and whether the Plaintiffs' application could lawfully be denied.

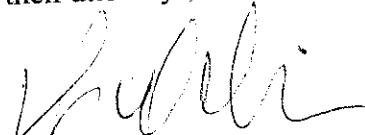

106. Resolution of this controversy between the parties by the Court will have a real and concrete impact upon the delivery of wireless communications services in the Town of Wayland.

107. The Plaintiffs' contentions on these points are correct.

WHEREFORE, the Plaintiffs request that this Court enter judgment:

1. Declaring that the Board's Decision and the Bylaw on its face and as applied by the Board's Decision violate the Act and the Zoning Act;
2. Granting temporary, preliminary, and permanent injunctive relief ordering that the Plaintiffs be permitted immediately to install their facilities in accordance with its application and plans therefor;
3. Annulling the portion of the Board's Decision denying the Plaintiffs' applications;
4. Ordering the Board to issue all zoning relief necessary for the proposed facility;
5. Awarding the Plaintiffs reasonable attorneys' fees and costs; and
6. Awarding Plaintiffs such other and further relief as the Court deems just and proper.
